Education in any form is a welcome sight here and to our profession. John of www.opticianworks.com has put together a comprehensive educational site. Johns goals for the site:

“I have two long term goals for the site. First over the next few years I want to see an end to the textbook Ophthalmic Dispensing. It is antiquated, expensive, awkward, and worst of all it makes a relatively simple subject seem far more complex than it needs to be. Second I want to see opticianworks as a consistent top ten on a Google search of the word optician.”

With such a great site let's help him reach that goal, visit and bookmark the site today.
